

Flash Application

Animation brings your website to life. If your site is plain and static, animation will add user spark to your web pages and gain attention from your visitors.

If you're interested in adding vibrancy and visual excitement to your Website, Flash is the answer. Flash allows us the ability to integrate video, text, audio, and graphics into effective experiences that deliver superior results.

Flash can be used for interactive marketing and presentations, e-learning, and rich Internet applications and simply to capture your visitor's attention.

Interactive flash website development

After we have completed a layout design we can develop an interactive flash website. Our interactive flash websites can also have advanced deeplinking so that they are easier to navigate.

Hybrid website development

Besides full interactive flash websites we also offer our clients hybrid sites that can include php, mysql, css and xhtml. We can also develop headers or menus in flash for sites that are static to add more of a user interactive appearance and experience.
